Missouri Caves & Karst Conservancy

Jim Cooley reports the Goodwin sinkhole cleanup continues. More tires were removed from cave and a road is now in place to get large equipment down into the sinkhole.

Summer Trip announcements

Jim Cooley reports that a trip to Willow Springs June 9th will be planned. This may be a difficult wetsuit cave. Surface and sinkhole survey work also. Camping is available at the landowner's property.

Jim Cooley is planning a June 11-15th or 16-17th trip to survey at Cloud Nine Ranch. Also may have survey trip the week of May 21st.

Jim has reserved 3rd and 4th weekends of July and August at Powder Mill Research Facility. The Park Service would like us to monitor caves on the Current River.

Jim offered a trip to Cleveland Cave this weekend. The landowner will be cooking awesome catfish and cornbread. Jim strongly recommends the cornbread

Jim Cooley reports that he may be getting an opportunity to collect salamander tail clips. Contact Jim if you are interested.

Jim Cooley reports that he may be soon working with a cave diver to dive Meramec Springs to look for cave fish and other cave life.

Grotto Picnic

June 2nd at Rick and Kay Hines house. Rick asked for RSVP's and passed around a sign-up sheet.

Open Discussion, Misc. Trip Reports

Onondaga Cave – Jim Cooley reports he had visited the old gate and took measurements for a replacement gate. They also visited Cathedral cave's natural entrance and inspected the gate.

Jim met with Dante Fenolio and visited Banker's cave. Dante is a photographer and amphibian conservation scientist with the Atlanta Botanical Garden. He is also the co-author of the new book: Cave Life of Oklahoma and Arkansas: Exploration and Conservation of Subterranean Biodiversity. This is an excellent book and contains many fantastic photos.

Jim Cooley visited McCormick Cave. The owners recently hired a contractor to help work on the project. His large equipment was a great help in completing the project. The cave gate is now complete and only took 4 days to build.

Jim Cooley reports that Onyx cave gate had been breached three times. Jim and his group were able to make repairs to the gate on a Saturday, May 5th.

Brandy Riggs reported on The Year of the Bat at Onondaga Cave State Park. Dave Mead and Jim Cooley attended as well.

Brandy reported that they took some students from Bosworth School into Cleveland Cave.

Brandy then took some classmates and her English teacher to Cleveland Cave.
